

UNIVERSITY OF DENVER
STURM COLLEGE OF LAW

2255 E. Evans Ave.
Denver, CO 80208
303.871.6130
Fax 303.871.6378
www.law.du.edu/

Dear Colleague,

We are writing to ask your assistance in making information about two LLM programs known to your faculty and graduating students. Enclosed are brochures and posters that convey basic information about the programs. We kindly request your consideration to post them on your bulletin board.

LLM or MRLS in Environmental and Natural Resources Law and Policy (ENRLP)

This program is open to applicants who have a legal background and those that do not. An LLM is offered for those with a prior law degree and a Masters in Resources Law Studies is available for non-law background applicants. Each twenty-four credit program can be completed in two semesters. A Certificate of Natural Resource Law Studies is open to both law and non-law background applicants and can be completed in one semester. Over 40 specialized courses relating to natural resources and environmental law are offered. Enrollment is capped at 35 students to insure a high quality level and small class size. Students accepted into the program may compete for scholarships.

LLM in American and Comparative Law (MACLAW)

This program is open to applicants who have a law degree from a university outside the United States and it is open to individuals who want to do advanced legal study in international or United States law. This LLM program is a twenty-four hour program designed to be completed in two semesters. Students take one required course in each semester and choose the remainder of their courses from over 100 courses offered every year. Enrollment is capped at 25 students to insure a high quality level and ample academic and administrative support to students. Scholarship assistance is available on a limited basis, including a teaching fellowship that covers half of the tuition costs for the LLM degree.

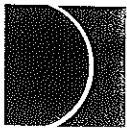

If you would like more information about these exciting programs, please visit our websites at www.law.du.edu/enrlp or www.law.du.edu/maclaw or contact us directly. We can be reached at the address on this letterhead or at the following:

Phone: 303-871-6324 (ENRLP) 303-871-6526 (MACLAW) Fax: 303-871-6711
Email: jotto@law.du.edu (ENRLP) MACLAW@law.du.edu (MACLAW)

Sincerely yours,

Prof. James Otto
Director of Graduate Studies
Environmental and Natural Resources Law Program

Prof. Paula Rhodes
Director of Graduate Studies
American & Comparative Law Program

UNIVERSITY OF DENVER
STURM COLLEGE OF LAW

2255 E. Evans Ave.
Denver, CO 80208
Fax 303.871.6711
www.law.du.edu/

Dear Colleague,

We are writing to ask your assistance in making information about two masters programs known to your faculty and graduating students. Enclosed are brochures and posters that convey basic information about the programs. We kindly request your consideration to post them on your bulletin board.

The LLM or MRLS in Environmental and Natural Resources Law and Policy programs (ENRGP) are open to applicants who have a legal background and those that do not. An LLM is offered for those with a prior law degree and a Masters in Resources Law Studies is available for non-law background applicants. Each twenty-four credit program can be completed in two semesters. A Certificate of Natural Resource Law Studies is open to both law and non-law background applicants and can be completed in one semester. Over 40 specialized courses relating to natural resources and environmental law are offered. Enrollment is capped at 35 students to insure a high quality level and small class size. Students accepted into the program may compete for scholarships.

The Division of Economics and Business at the Colorado School of Mines (CSM) offers what is regarded as the pre-eminent mineral economics program in the World. With over 50% of its enrollment drawn from outside the USA, its graduates can be found in government ministries and companies worldwide. In addition to over 30 specialized economics courses, students can take courses in other CSM departments (mining, petroleum, geology etc.) and at the DU Sturm College of Law. In addition to MS and PhD degrees in Mineral Economics, CSM offers a BS degree in Economics and a MS degree in Engineering and Technology Management. Popular courses for government officers include: Natural Resource Economics, Economics of International Energy Markets, Economics of Metal Industries and Markets, Mineral Policies and International Investment, and Exploration Economics. A limited amount of financial aid is awarded on a competitive basis.

If you would like more information about these exciting programs, please visit our websites at www.law.du.edu/enrgp or www.mines.edu. We can also be reached at the address on this letterhead or at the following:

Phone: 303-871-6324, fax: 303-871-6711 (ENRGP); 303-273-3981, Fax: 303-273-3416 (CSM)
Email: ldaberkow@law.du.edu (ENRGP); kfeighny@mines.edu (CSM)

Sincerely yours,

Lucy Daberkow
Assistant Director of Graduate Studies
Environmental and Natural Resources Law Program
University of Denver Sturm College of Law

Kathleen Feighny
Program Manager
Division of Economics and Business
Colorado School of Mines